

Jeeng AdFill for Email

Send email campaigns that pay for themselves with automated placement of dynamic, personalized content for maximum audience relevancy and engagement.

Get your fill of revenue increases and audience engagement.

As consumer trust in social media declines, and advertisers continue to pour money into Google and Facebook, publishers are struggling to maintain subscriber engagement and revenue. Before jumping to move your content behind a paywall and risk alienating even more audience, let email monetization help you drive new revenue over the channel subscribers trust the most, putting you back in control of audience engagement.

Optimize and monetize with Jeeng email.

- Delivers relevant content, personalized at the moment of open for maximum relevancy
- Automatically inserts sponsored content into your existing templates
- Uses subscribers' email address to track engagement and optimize personalization across all channels
- Fills automatically from our native AdMarket, or works with your direct sold inventory
- Is immune to browser-based ad blockers for guaranteed monetization

“Jeeng provides superior customer service, and its flexibility to meet its partners' needs is unmatched.”
