

Personalized, automated, monetized push notification campaigns that drive engagement

Push notifications are one of the best channels for engaging subscribers and keeping them coming back to your site. More than 70% of users already subscribe to push notifications from publishers they trust. Let's make your site one of them!

Jeeng for Push is your solution!

The only personalized, automated, monetized browser-based push notification platform built exclusively for publishers, Jeeng gives you the service, scale and results you need to drive audience engagement AND revenue.

Jeeng offers:

- Automated content curation, notification configuration and delivery. Our algorithm helps you get to know your subscribers and automatically push the right content at the right time to drive engagement. You choose how much or how little hands-on configuration you want.
- Breaking news alerts and relevant articles that reach subscribers even when they're not on your site.
- A complete solution that keeps users coming back to your site to drive engagement and pageviews.
- A new revenue stream with our built-in monetization options.

With Jeeng, publishers get a full-service push notification platform that:

- Reduces workload, saves time and lowers cost
- Increases click-thru rates with relevant, personalized content
- Lets you send more, high-quality, relevant content more frequently—because it's what subscribers want.
- Drives added revenue with campaigns that pay for themselves!

Give it a try!

Just a single line of code embedded into your website is all it takes to get started. Be fully up and running within 24 hours to amplify your push notification campaigns and add a new revenue stream on day one!

Psst...and when you're ready for more, Jeeng for Email can give you all-in-one multichannel messaging made easy!
